

Youth unemployment – challenges and opportunities

How effective are the measures for reducing the youth unemployment rate?

Substitution effect

(Replacing one type of workers with another)

Dead-weight loss effect

(Resources are not allocated where they are most needed)

Self employment stimulation programme:

Partnerships with NGOs working in the field of entrepreneurship

Improving the mechanism for skills forecasting

Evaluating the financial aid programme

Expanding the stakeholders base

Subsidising youth employment

Established by Article 98-b of Employment and insurance against unemployment law

Lack of targeting mechanism

Are companies actually using the measure?

MICRO COMPANIES MEDIUM COMPANIES
SMALL COMPANIES LARGE COMPANIES

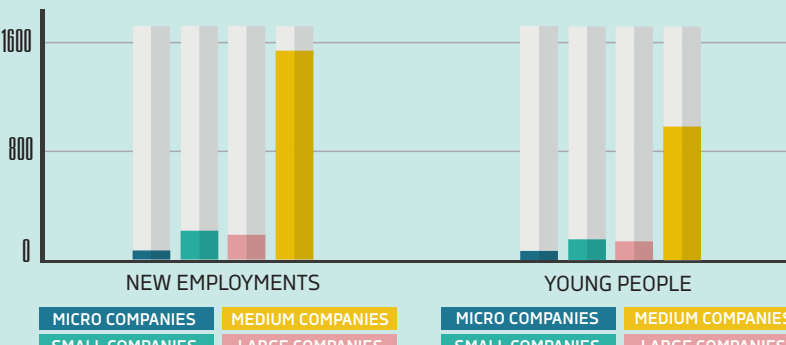

Micro and small companies are mostly unfamiliar...

MICRO COMPANIES MEDIUM COMPANIES
SMALL COMPANIES LARGE COMPANIES

...but are still constitute the biggest part of the measure users

Also, micro and small businesses mostly employ young people

However, 92.5% from the respondents stated that they planned to make new employments

Companies stated that the measure has some limitations

POSITIVE IMPACT NEGATIVE IMPACT NOT AFFECTED

Of those who, the measure had a positive influence on the earnings

MICRO COMPANIES SMALL COMPANIES MEDIUM COMPANIES LARGE COMPANIES

Companies stated that the measure has some limitations:

NO RESPONSE
THE MEASURE HAS NO RESTRICTION THE MEASURE HAS RESTRICTION

MICRO COMPANIES LARGE COMPANIES
SMALL COMPANIES MEDIUM COMPANIES

The recommendations are towards:

Reducing the duration of the worker retention obligations

Considering justified dismissals that should not be penalized

Extending the period for worker replacement

However, the measure implementation should be continued

YES NO

SMALL COMPANIES MEDIUM COMPANIES
MICRO COMPANIES LARGE COMPANIES